FEATURED CLIENT (by Brian Anderson)

A New Way of Life Reentry Project

I met Susan Burton, founder of A New Way of Life (ANWOL), in 2018 at an educational event in Los Angeles when I affixed a microphone to her for a presentation. We spoke for a bit, and I told her a little about my small business. She invited me to offer a proposal for her organization's upcoming holiday gala. Our proposal was accepted and we proceeded to do the audio, video, lighting, and backline for the next two years of holiday galas.

Then came the pandemic. No events in 2020 - 2021. For the years following, ANWOL used other AV vendors with "less than ideal" results. In 2024, ANWOL reached back out to BandProd and we resumed our partnership. We provided production for their 2024 and 2025 events and are contracted to provide services again this year.

This ongoing partnership reflects BandProd's ability to deliver consistent results, adapt to evolving client needs, and maintain long-term client confidence.

PAST PERFORMANCE & EXPERIENCE

Executive Overview

Brian Anderson, CEO, brings more than 40 years of experience in entertainment production and logistics.

In the 1990s, he founded Blue Audio – Chicago, a leading provider of sound reinforcement throughout the nightclub, small theater, and festival circuit. After relocating to Los Angeles in 1999, Brian worked extensively with international touring artists, high-profile social events, and corporate productions.

Band Production Services LLC was founded in 2013 and incorporated as BandProd Inc in 2018. The company now operates two warehouses in the San Fernando Valley.

BandProd provides comprehensive production services, cartage and logistics throughout Southern California and the western United States.
